Options on leaving the service of an employer and terminating membership of a pension fund prior to normal retirement

WITHDRAWALS FROM EMPLOYMENT

Most members leave schemes through resignation, dismissal or retrenchment. The rules of your pension fund sets out in detail the various options available when you terminate your membership. The summary below is intended only to give you an overview of the various benefits and options to which you may be entitled to, so that you can make an informed choice with regard to your benefits.

We strongly recommend that money accumulated for retirement should be preserved whenever possible. Experience shows that once money allocated for retirement is taken in the form of cash, it is very rarely replaced at a later stage.

The following options are generally available:

Option 1: Remain a paid-up member in the fund

- This option provides the member with an opportunity to preserve the benefit in the fund till retirement age.
- The preserved benefit will increase with investment returns until retirement age.
- The member will have the option to transfer the accumulated preserved benefit to any other Fund before normal retirement age, thus ensuring portability of the preserved benefit.
- By preserving the benefit till at least to your early retirement age as set out in the Rules of the Fund you may receive favourable tax concessions or rebates from SARS.

Option 2: Taking the benefit in cash

- This is normally not recommended as the amount may be subject to tax and only the first R 25 000 of all your benefit will be tax free.
- Implications of taking a cash benefit is that you will lose out on future tax-free investments returns.
- Clearly, a cash payment means that money set aside for retirement may be used for other purposes; resulting in the member having insufficient funds to live on after retirement.

Option 3: Transferring the benefit to a scheme operated by the member's new employer

- It is usually possible to transfer the benefit to a scheme operated by the member's new employer.
- Not only will such a transfer be free of tax (unless it is a pension to provident fund transfer) but the benefit will be held to the member's credit under the member's new employer's fund. Here it will earn investment income until such time as the member retires or leaves the new fund.

Option 4: Transferring the benefit to a retirement annuity or preservation plan

- This option is similar to transferring the benefit to a fund operated by the member's new employer described above, with the difference being that the money is held in the member's own individual investment plan.
- Once again the money will continue to grow with investment earnings.

In the case of a retirement annuity, up to one-third of the final amount accumulated can be taken at retirement in the form of cash, subject to tax at that time. The balance of the proceeds must be taken in the form of a pension that will be subject to tax. Note that the earliest age at which the member may retire from a retirement annuity is 55 and the latest, age 70.

Separate preservation plans are available for transfers from pension or provident funds respectively. In the case of a Pension Preservation Plan, benefits will emerge at retirement in the same form as those from a retirement annuity. In the case of a Provident Preservation Plan, the full proceeds can be taken in cash subject to tax.

The advantage of a preservation plan over a retirement annuity is that one withdrawal may be made from a preservation plan prior to retirement to meet any unexpected financial needs. Further, the years of service that have been accrued towards the determination of the member's eventual tax free lump sum at retirement will not be cancelled on withdrawal as will happen where the transfer is to a retirement annuity.

Note: A member will not be allowed to transfer his/her benefits to a preservation plan if he/she has already received a portion of the benefit in cash. Where the member has received a portion of the benefit in cash, he/she may only transfer his/her benefits to a retirement annuity fund and will only be able to access his/her benefit at retirement age.

Option 5: Death and disability benefit conversion option

Where this is offered, the member may, within 30 days of leaving service, exercise an option to take out an individual policy without evidence of health, but subject to an HIV test. In this way the member can continue valuable life cover (and disability cover where applicable), at his/her own expense.

Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act 37, 2002

The above legislation was introduced for your protection against the possibility of receiving inappropriate advice regarding your financial needs. Please ensure that your financial adviser is duly licensed under the FAIS Act and provides you with a written record of the advice given to you. Your financial adviser is obliged to fully disclose any material information pertaining to the product, the product supplier and his/her relationship with the product supplier. In terms of this legislation, your financial adviser must ensure that all the necessary steps have been taken to place you in a position to make an informed decision in respect of your retirement fund benefit.
